

From San Francisco
Matsonia, Sept. 12.
For San Francisco
Nippon Maru, Sept. 14.
From Canadian Ports
Next mail, Oct. 8.
For Canadian Ports
Next mail, Sept. 17.

Honolulu Star-Bulletin

3:30
Edition

RUSSIA NOW FACES NEW REVOLUTION

Korniloff, Forced To Resign Army Command, Rebels

SWEDEN'S RECITAL AWAITED

United States Will Take No Official Steps Regarding Exposure of Stockholm's Secret Aid to Germany Until Formal Explanation is Issued

BUENOS AIRES, Argentine, Sept. 10.—The announcement from Washington concerning the duplicity of Sweden has created a sensation here and official circles are unable to believe that secret despatches intended for Germany have been sent through the Swedish legation. Some officials believe they have not been accurately translated.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—Official and diplomatic Washington awaited today with tense eagerness a report from Stockholm as to how Sweden received the charge made by the United States that Sweden has been acting as the secret ally of Germany in forwarding through her diplomats abroad and through the foreign office at Stockholm of communications revealing the dates of the sailing of Argentine ships so that German submarines might lay in lurk for them.

So far neither the Argentine ambassador nor the Swedish minister has presented messages to the United States from their representative governments concerning Secretary Lansing's revelation and until they do no steps looking to an official communication on the subject will be taken by Washington.

It is freely predicted, however, that the Argentine foreign office will demand the recall of Count Luxburg, Swedish charge d'affaires at Buenos Aires, who is charged by Secretary Lansing with being the prime mover in the conspiracy.

Secretary Lansing has made public the text of a number of communications that have passed between the Swedish charge d'affaires at Buenos Aires and Berlin, in which the sailing dates of Argentine ships have been betrayed.

Recommendations to Berlin are included in these official despatches that when these ships were sunk "no trace be left." The crews were to be drowned without any chance of escape.

The Swedish charge d'affaires sent these despatches over the cable lines through London to Stockholm as his own official despatches, dealing with Swedish business, and as such they were received by the foreign office in Stockholm.

State department officials maintain a careful studied silence. They deplore, however, any attempt that has been made or may be made to color the incident as forecasting any break or even threatened break between the United States and Sweden. In the present stage they consider it as a matter that must be settled between Germany, Argentine and Sweden and which needs no interference from other nations.

Diplomats interviewed yesterday were inclined to believe that Germany's action is more or less discredited. There is practically nothing else for that country to do but to offer full amends to Argentine and sincere apologies for the German statement that referred to the Argentine minister of foreign affairs as a "Notorious Ass."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—The postal authorities, it is understood, are considering the advisability of closing the mails to certain German newspapers which, it is alleged, have been spreading seditious doctrines.

SUGAR REFINERS WIN BIG VICTORIES IN U. S. SENATE

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)
WASHINGTON, D. C. Sept. 10.—The sugar industry of the United States won important victories in the senate today. The first one was the decision of the senate when voting on amendment to the proposed war tax bill began, to eliminate consumption tax on sugar, cocoa and tea.

The second was the elimination by vote of 69 to 11 of the provision to repeal the drawback clause which provides for allowances on re-exports of manufactured articles from imported raw materials, thus giving recognition to the sugar refiners who have waged a vigorous campaign for retention of the drawback clause.

LATE NEWS AT A GLANCE

ITALIAN WARSHIP SUNK BY MEDITERRANEAN MINE.
ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 10.—A Norwegian vessel arriving here today brought the news of the sinking of the Italian warship Umberto I. While acting as convoy for merchantmen in the Mediterranean the warship struck a submerged mine and sank almost immediately. Fifty of the crew are reported to have perished.

JURY HEARING DEMANDED IN RAPID TRANSIT CASE.
Both the city and county and the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co. have demanded a jury hearing of the petition filed by the company for registration of title to land in Kakaako. An opinion on the petition was recently given by Circuit Judge Kemp, who said the company might have its title to all land with the exception of portions of certain streets claimed by the county.

DUTCH OFFICERS PAY VISIT TO GOVERNOR PINKHAM.
Officers of the Dutch cruiser Zeeland paid an official call this afternoon upon Governor Pinkham in the executive rooms at the capitol. The governor was attended by his aide, Maj. James D. Dougherty, N. G. H.

CALDWELL RESIGNS ENGINEER'S OFFICE.
Capt. J. W. Caldwell, 1st Separate Company, Hawaiian Engineers, National Guard, has resigned from that office, according to word this afternoon at headquarters. The resignation has been accepted.

WASHINGTON OAR COACH DIES.
SEATTLE, Sept. 10.—Hiram Conibear, coach of the University of Washington crew, which for years has been a factor in Pacific Coast regattas, died here today.

Coach Conibear was picking some fruit from one of the trees in his back yard when he slipped and fell to the ground, striking head first and breaking his neck. Conibear was one of the leading oarsmen on the Pacific Coast.

ANARCHIST FREED ON BAIL—JAILED FOR BOMB OUTRAGE.
NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Alexander Berkman, partner of Emma Goldman and notorious anarchist, who was out on a bail of $25,000, has been rearrested by the San Francisco police authorities on a warrant charging him with murder in connection with the "preparedness day" bomb outrage in this city last year.

DISTILLERY IN HUNS YIELD HAWAII CAN'T MAKE BOOZE

"Refuse waste molasses may be used as a distilling material for the production of non-beverage goods only, under the act of August 10."

With the receipt of the foregoing cablegram Saturday from the commissioner of internal revenue, Washington, D. C., Ralph S. Johnstone, acting collector of internal revenue at Honolulu, has advised a distillery on the island of Hawaii to cease using refuse waste molasses for the manufacture of gin and rum. He has ruled, however, that the distillery may continue to use refuse waste molasses for the manufacture of alcohol.

With a view to determining whether refuse waste molasses is a feed or food coming within the liquor clause of the national food law, Acting Collector Johnstone sent the following cablegram to the revenue commissioner last Thursday.

"Under the act of August 10, 1917, can distilleries continue where refuse molasses is used solely? If discontinued, molasses thrown away."

The reply, quoted above, came last Saturday afternoon, and Acting Collector Johnstone immediately informed the Big Island distillery of its contents. The reply is interpreted as meaning that the Hilo distillery will have to close unless it uses the refuse waste molasses solely for the distillation of a spirit which will not be used for consumption. There is nothing to prevent the distillery from manufacturing alcohol, the acting collector thinks, on the ground that alcohol is not a beverage such as gin and rum might be termed.

"I was doubtful in interpreting the law on the question of whether refuse waste molasses was a food or feed," said the acting collector today, "coming within the class which may not be used for the distillation of spirits."

Frisco-Honolulu Experts Rout Huns In Wireless Duel

Kaiser's Radio Sends Waves Around World, interrupting Communication Even in the Pacific

HONOLULU, Sept. 10.—Government wireless operators outwitted German attempts to interrupt wireless communication between Honolulu and San Francisco by sending out wireless waves which extended half way around the world is told in a coast newspaper.

The Teuton's wireless sparks interfered with the receiving of messages from Honolulu in San Francisco, but the waves failed to reach the sending station at Kahuku. The San Francisco report of the unique duel for the possession of the "air lines," follows: "German wireless waves all the way from Kaiserland fought a duel last night with the naval radio station in the Hobart building, and for a few minutes conquered. In the end American strategy put the German interlopers out of business."

"While the station was talking with Honolulu the operators were interrupted by a spark bringing a foreign tongue into the conversation. The signal became louder until the naval spark was completely drowned out. With the aid of a German dictionary the words were recognized as German, and then it was realized that one of the Kaiser's powerful stations was sending its waves half way around the world to interfere with Uncle Sam's wireless."

"For a moment the German stopped. The naval operators seized the chance to tell Honolulu what was happening and to arrange to defeat the wandering radio waves. By agreement the San Francisco and Honolulu operators changed the 'tune' of their apparatus in concert in every 15 minutes.

LEAVES FORTUNE TO FRIEND, THEN JUMPS INTO SEA

Willing his entire worldly fortune, 120 pounds in gold, to an acquaintance who was traveling in the third class cabin, Alex Smith, a galley worker on the Makura, jumped overboard from that vessel the second day out from Honolulu on the last voyage of that ship from here to Vancouver, Smith, or Glinn, as his right name was found to be from his effects, was believed to have been demented.

The night before he committed suicide Glinn approached the passenger in the third cabin, whom he had known previously, and gave him his pack of money, saying: "Keep this for me. If anything happens to me I want you to have it." The next evening just at dusk he clambered upon the rail amidships and leaped overboard.

Life preservers were thrown overboard, but he swam away from them. The ship stopped for about two hours while a search was made for his body, but without success.

BASEBALL RESULTS TODAY

NATIONAL LEAGUE
At Boston—Philadelphia 5, Boston 2; Boston 12, Philadelphia 2.
At New York—Brooklyn 13, New York 6; Brooklyn 2, New York 1.
At St. Louis—St. Louis 2, Pittsburgh 1.
At Chicago—No game; bad weather.
AMERICAN LEAGUE
At Washington—Washington 2, Boston 1; Boston 4, Washington 3.
At Philadelphia—New York 10, Philadelphia 1; New York 5, Philadelphia 1.
Mrs. Jack Tait, wife of Captain Tait, master of the British ship Kestrel, was arriving on the Makura from Victoria yesterday. Captain and Mrs. Tait will establish a permanent residence in the islands.

KERENSKY AND MILITARY LEADER CLASH FOLLOWING DEMAND FOR FULL POWERS

PETROGRAD, Russia, Sept. 10.—Petrograd is today in the throes of chaos again as the prospect of another revolution—this time headed by General Korniloff, former commander-in-chief of the army, following his deposition by Premier Kerensky, looms up.

Premier Kerensky has declared Petrograd in a state of war and ordered General Korniloff to resign as a consequence of Korniloff's demand for supreme power for the military. General Klembovsky has been named as commander-in-chief, supplanting Korniloff.

The premier in his proclamation declares that the provisional government formed that the provisional government regarded Korniloff's pronouncement as an act of rebellion which must be ruthlessly suppressed. The government believes it has the support of enough troops loyal to the people to crush the movement before it gains headway.

An official statement also says that General Lokonsky also proved a traitor in refusing to take command of the armies. The Soldiers' and Workmen's council has ordered all organizations to obey the mandates of the provisional government and protect the country from conspiracy, saying that Korniloff should be punished for his treachery.

WILSON IS A BIGGER MAN THAN LLOYD GEORGE, SAYS O'MALLEY

HON. KING O'MALLEY, recently minister of home affairs for the commonwealth of Australia, visited Honolulu yesterday, a through passenger on the Canadian-Australasian liner Makura from Vancouver, B. C. He is on his way home after having paid a three months' visit to the United States, the country from which he emigrated 30 years ago.

"America's heart and soul are in the war, the war which President Wilson has so aptly sloganized 'a war to make the world safe for democracy,'" declared Mr. O'Malley in an interview with a Star-Bulletin reporter.

Lean and tall with a close-cropped white beard and smiling blue eyes which close entirely when he laughs, Mr. O'Malley looks every inch a "Down East Yankee," a title which has been bestowed upon him by Australian citizens because of his long residence in America.

"I toured the United States as a private citizen, avoiding newspaper reporters, and my friends who are prominent in American life and politics; but getting into touch with the real people, the farmers, laborers, mechanics and businessmen. My object was to learn how the residents of various localities viewed the entry of their country into the war on the side of the Allies," said Mr. O'Malley.

"Incidents which occurred at various places I visited and conversations I held with many different people lead me to believe that as far as the citizens of the United States as a whole are concerned, they are in the war heart and soul to the finish."

"Let me tell you of an incident in Missouri which may serve to illustrate my point. One of the tobacco chewing brethren of that state with whom I struck up a conversation delivered his ultimatum to Germany in this way:

"I hate England and the English, by gum, I do," he declared, and spat his disapproval.

"Why?" I asked.
"They burned up our library, darn 'em," he replied.
"Yes, but that was over a hundred years ago."

"We both laughed then and he continued: 'But I'm a Democrat and Wilson says we gotta fight, so help me, we're gonna fight. I got four sons and a 'old 'un to bet in the army. They're in it, you bet. Berlin or bust, by crickey.'"

"That little incident," continued O'Malley, "demonstrates more than anything else I heard en route how loyally and without hesitation the Americans are in the war."

There will be a meeting of the board of liquor commissioners Thursday afternoon. At that time the managers of the Progress and Anchor saloons will be asked to tell why they think their licenses should not be revoked.

ROBBERS TRAPPED SLAY TWO

Japanese Fisherman is Shot By Intruder With Whom He Grappled and Pursued While Filipino is Slain as He Sits on Lanai; Bullets are the Same

Captain of Detectives McDuffie announced late this afternoon that he has almost conclusive proof that one of the Hawaiian boys held at the police station is responsible for the murder of O. Hosino. The captain has recovered the revolver, the trousers worn by one of the Hawaiians and the buttons which were missing from the coat worn by one of the Hawaiians when arrested. The buttons were found in the room in which the Japanese was murdered.

TWO men were murdered between 3 and 5 o'clock this morning in the vicinity of River and Nuuanu streets, following, it is believed, attempts at robbery. Later on this morning two Hawaiian boys, Kapeliela Kaeha and David Kapahona, were arrested and held for investigation in connection with the second killing.

After an attempted robbery, Otokichi Hosino, a middle-aged Japanese fisherman, was shot three times and instantly killed at about 3:30 o'clock in the Fujii camp near River street where he lives with his family.

Isidoro Elsinore, Filipino, aged 25, was shot in the house at which he was staying in back of Dr. Lee's house just off Nuuanu street, at about 4:25 o'clock. He died at 9:25 o'clock. Grapples With Robber.

The bullets removed from the bodies of the dead men in the post mortem examination this morning were exactly the same. That they came from the same pistol is one theory regarding the murder.

Bent upon robbery, it is believed, an unknown man entered the room in which Hosino was staying with two of his children, at an early hour this morning. The Japanese awakened when the man entered the room and rose to meet him.

"Who are you?" he shouted, and advanced towards the intruder, whom he grasped. The latter pulled a knife and started poking at Hosino's arm. When the Japanese released his hold the burglar rushed to the door but the Japanese grabbed his coat.

The robber then turned and shot Hosino three times, twice through the arm and once through the heart. The last bullet killed him instantly. He rushed down the stairs—for the room was on the second story—pursued by another Japanese in a nearby room who had heard the shot. At the bottom of the stairs the murderer was stopped by another Japanese, Miyada. He fired at Miyada, the bullet inflicting a slight wound on his hip.

Witnesses say that the man threw his knife into the river as he made his escape, but the police evidently knew nothing of it. The police were early on the spot and Hosino was removed to the Emergency hospital and then to the morgue.

Hosino was a fisherman and leaves a family of six daughters, the oldest of whom is 23 and the youngest 9, and one son, 22 years old.

Isidoro Elsinore was shot at about 4:25 by unknown persons. All that could be learned of him before his death shortly after 9 o'clock, was that he was sitting on his veranda talking to one or two men and that one of them had evidently shot him.

When the police arrived on the scene of the murder, however, they found the man wearing his night clothes and it is believed that he was asleep when he was called out in an attempted robbery. The two Hawaiian boys arrested are suspected of being the persons on the veranda with him.

The man was rushed to the Emergency hospital and his body taken to the morgue after he had died. He was shot once in the side, the bullet entering his right side between the ninth and tenth ribs.

Investigation of the double murder this morning was started before noon under the direction of Chief of Detectives Arthur McDuffie. He made a trip to the scenes of the murders this morning and just after noon was closeted with other members of his force and with the two Hawaiian boys held.

MAY CLOSE P. O. TO HUN PAPERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—The postal authorities, it is understood, are considering the advisability of closing the mails to certain German newspapers which, it is alleged, have been spreading seditious doctrines.